

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Are we a good match?

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you have an online dating profile?
- What information would you include?
What information would you not include?

Can Do Statements

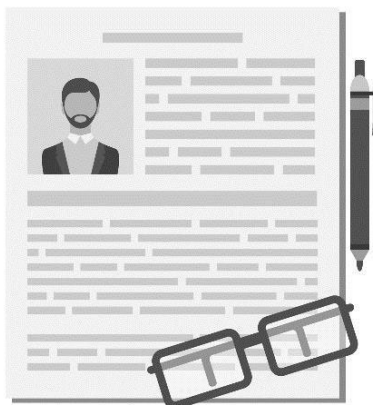

- I can write about technology, friendships and relationships.
- I can write an online personal profile.
- I can write about things I have been doing and things I have done.

Let's Explore!

Peter comes across Karla's online profile? What do you think? Should he get in touch with her?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

This profile looks interesting ...

It's really difficult to talk about yourself but I will give it a try.

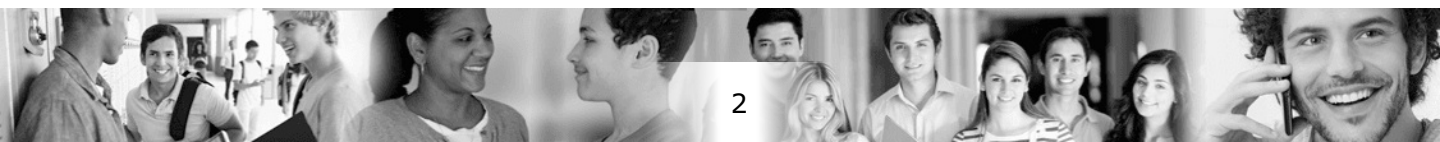

My close friends often tell me that I am a pretty easy-going person. I hardly ever feel stressed. They also say that I am funny - that I make them smile. I am also a loyal friend, and am honest - sometimes to a fault. One friend describes me as gregarious.

In my spare time I look after myself. I like working out at the gym, jogging along the boardwalk near my home, and spending time with my friends and family.

I enjoy life, as you never know what is around the corner. I love doing random things including weekends away exploring and visiting new places. I have been fascinated by different ideas, religions and cultures since I was a child. I love going to see live music, seeing a good comedian, going to the cinema, watching sports and eating out at interesting restaurants.

I have been single for a few years now. This isn't because I'm scared to commit but because I just haven't found that special someone who makes life fall into place. I'm looking for the right person to settle down with. However, I'd rather be a slightly lonely singleton than be with just anyone to be part of a couple, only to quickly break up.

I am not interested in desperate women who want to get married tomorrow. Rome was not built in a day! I have a good job and have been working since my late teens. Someone who can't handle a man with his own goals and aspirations need not respond. The rest is for you to find out, of course. Why not get in touch?

Let's Practice!

Karla provides information about her personality, interests and ideas. What should she not* include?

* For your own safety, do not include your full name, phone number or address.

Instructions: Choose a word from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

- look after
- eating out
- working out
- settle down
- break up
- find out

1. In my spare time I _____ myself.
2. I like _____ at the gym.
3. I would rather stay as a happy singleton rather than end up part of an unhappy couple, only to _____ later.
4. The rest is for you to _____ of course.
5. I would like to _____ with the right person.
6. I enjoy _____ at interesting restaurants.

Let's Practice!

Karla's friend found love on the Internet. Will she do the same?

Instructions: Read the text again. Proofread the sentence. Find the incorrect words. Write down the correct word to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary.

1. I was fascinated by different ideas, religions and cultures for I was a child.

2. I have bin single since a few years now.

3. I have a good job and work since my late teens.

4. I thought about a long-term partner since my friend met her husband on a dating site.

Extension Activity

Do you have any single friends you want to set up? It's time to create a personal profile.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose a single friend or family member.
- Interview them and ask them questions about their personality, interests and plans for the future.
- Write down the information in note form.
- Then, turn the notes into a personal profile.
- Remember to write in complete sentences and proofread your work.
- Read the information aloud to the person.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I interview a friend or family member and take notes.

☐ ☐

I create a personal profile.

☐ ☐

I read the personal profile aloud to the person.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- gregarious (adjective): enjoying the company of other people
e.g. She has a gregarious nature.
- around the corner (expression): in the near future
e.g. There is someone for you just around the corner.
- to commit (verb): to decide to give your love, support, or effort to someone or something in a serious or permanent way e.g. I am not afraid to commit to someone.
- to fall into place (expression): for things to work out well e.g. Things just seem to be falling into place for James and I.
- to settle down (verb): to begin to live a quiet and steady life by getting a regular job, getting married e.g. I am ready to settle down.
- singleton (noun): a single person, unmarried
e.g. I would rather stay as a happy singleton rather than end up part of an unhappy couple, only to break up later.
- aspirations (noun): something that a person wants very much to achieve e.g. Someone who can't handle a man with his own goals and aspirations need not respond.
- to get in touch (expression): to get in contact with someone e.g. Why not get in touch?
- to handle (verb): to deal with successfully e.g. Can you handle someone with their own ideas and plans for the future?
- Rome was not built in a day (expression): decisions and situations can take time to be successful e.g. I would like to eventually get married. Rome wasn't built in a day!

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs Present Perfect + Since and For for Duration

You use both the Present Perfect Continuous and the Present Perfect to talk about finished actions and unfinished actions.

The Present Perfect tense is used to talk about an action that started in the past and continues up to the present. You often include the words since and for with the Present Perfect. For indicates the period of time the action has been happening and since indicates the point in time when the action began.

You often use the Present Perfect tense when explaining how much or how many.

Example:

I've not e-mailed my friend for a long time.
Steve has drunk two cups of coffee already!

You can also use the Present Perfect Continuous to talk about an action that started in the past and continues up to the present.

You use the Present Perfect Continuous tense to emphasize the passage of time (how long an action has been happening up to the present).

Example:

She's been working on her online profile for a long time.
Julie has been drinking the same coffee since early this morning!

Examples:

- I have been fascinated by different ideas, religions and cultures since I was a child.
- I have been single for a few years now.
- I have been working since my late teens.

Learning Points

Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs consist of a verb and one or more prepositions. They are often used, especially in informal spoken English. The meaning of phrasal verbs is often completely different from the meaning of the verb alone.

Phrasal verbs can either be separable or inseparable.

Separable phrasal verbs consist of two parts. They always require an object.

The object of a phrasal verb can go either between the verb and the preposition or after the preposition.

Examples:

I looked up the word in the dictionary.

I looked the word up in the dictionary.

If the object of the sentence is a pronoun, it must go between the two parts of the phrasal verb.

Example:

I looked it up in the dictionary.

Some phrasal verbs are inseparable. With inseparable phrasal verbs, the preposition or adverb must be placed directly after the verb.

Examples:

- settle down = get married

I'm looking for the right person to settle down with.

- eat out = eat at a restaurant

I love going to see live music and eating out at interesting restaurants.

- break up = end a relationship

However, I'd rather be a slightly lonely singleton than be with just anyone to be part of a couple only to quickly break up.

