

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Meeting people is hard work. Don't you wish it were easier?

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- If you could change something about yourself, what would it be? Why?
- How easy is it for you to meet new people?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about social activities, feelings and reactions.
- I can talk about things I have been doing and things I have done.
- I can talk about wishes and imaginary situations.

Let's Explore!

Peter lays down what he looks for in a date.

* When you "lay down" something, you specify what you want or expect from it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

I've been looking for that special someone for a while now. It seems that I have been unlucky so far. Could you be the one for me?

I'm the kind of person who likes quiet evenings at a bar. I'm not someone who enjoys loud parties that much. I want to feel captivated by a conversation, and I try to avoid places that are too crowded. I wish I were more comfortable with having lots of people around me! I've fallen in love before, but I've always been afraid of commitment. I wish I didn't find serious relationships so intimidating sometimes. I'm always worried that my personality isn't spellbinding enough. I wish I could find someone who would make me feel relaxed enough to be myself all the time.

I've been reading comics since I was a kid, and I still love going to the comic book store every week. I wish I could find someone who would love to share this passion with me.

I've always been fascinated by people who don't betray their true feelings. I've been checking my profile every day, but I haven't found you yet. Could this be the message that changes everything?

Let's Practice!

Peter is worried*. Dating can be an intimidating experience!

*"Worried" is an adjective ending in -ed. You use -ed adjectives to describe how someone feels.

"Intimidating" is an adjective ending in -ing. You use -ing adjectives to describe the way a person or thing makes you feel.

Instructions: Read the text and underline all the correct answers.

1. Select all the adjectives that describe Peter's feelings. I want to feel captivated by a conversation. I'm always worried that my personality isn't spellbinding enough. I've always been fascinated by people who don't betray their true feelings.
2. Select all the adjectives that describe the way a person or thing makes you feel. I wish I didn't find serious relationships so intimidating sometimes. I'm always worried that my personality isn't spellbinding enough. People who are comfortable about showing their true feelings are fascinating to me.

Let's Practice!

Peter has been trying online dating for a few weeks, but he hasn't been lucky so far.

Instructions: Read the sentences. Write the correct time of each sentence. Write PP for Present Perfect, PPC for Present Perfect continuous, PS for Present Simple. There is only one answer per sentence.

1. I've been looking for that special someone for a while now. _____
2. I have been unlucky so far. _____
3. I want to feel captivated by a conversation. _____
4. I'm always worried that my personality isn't spellbinding enough. _____
5. I've been reading comics since I was a kid. _____

Extension Activity

Write your online dating profile.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Read Peter's profile again.
- Write your own profile (12-14 lines).
- Express your feelings and preferences.
- Talk about your wishes.
- Give your profile to your partner to read.
- Read your partner's profile.
- Discuss whether you are compatible.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write about feelings and reactions.

☐ ☐

I write about relationships and friendships.

☐ ☐

I share opinions about friendships and relationships.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- fascinated (adjective): strongly interested in something or someone e.g. I've always been fascinated by people who love comic books.
- to fall in love (expression): to have strong romantic feelings for someone e.g. I've fallen in love with a girl who loves comic books.
- commitment (noun): being dedicated to something or someone e.g. I've fallen in love before, but I've been afraid of commitment.
- spellbinding (adjective): capable of captivating someone's attention completely e.g. I'm worried that my personality isn't spellbinding enough.
- intimidating (adjective): daunting; makes you feel inferior e.g. I wish I didn't find serious relationships so intimidating.
- to betray (verb): to show something without meaning to do it e.g. I don't betray my true feelings.
- captivated (adjective): showing great attraction to something or someone e.g. I want to feel captivated by a conversation.

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs Present Perfect Tense

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You use the Present Perfect Continuous tense to describe:

- a single activity that lasts a long time, and
- an action that is repeated over a long period of time.

These continue up to the present.

When you use the Perfect tense (Present or Continuous), you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

To emphasize the action, you use the Continuous form.

The structure of the Present Perfect Continuous tense is: subject + have + been + v-ing

- I've been looking for that special someone for a while now.
- I've been reading comics since I was a kid.

To emphasize the result of the action, use the Simple form.

The structure of the Present Perfect tense is: subject + has/have + past participle

- It seems that I have been unlucky so far.
- I've fallen in love before, but I've always been afraid of commitment.

Examples:

- I've always been fascinated by people who don't betray their true feelings.
- I've been checking my profile every day but I haven't found you yet.

