Let's Start!

Swipe left, swipe right: it's love at first sight!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you believe in love at first sight? Why or why not?
- What is the quality you look for the most in a person? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about social activities, feelings and reactions.
- I can talk about things I have been doing and things I have done.
- I can talk about wishes and imaginary situations.

Let's Explore!

Finding the right person online is hard work, but it looks like it's paying off!

* When something "pays off", you are getting positive results for it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: I've been chatting with a few girls on Tender in the past few days.
Sally: Ooh! Exciting! Have you found someone you're compatible with?
Peter: I wish I could tell you for sure. I've had a couple of stimulating conversations so far. I guess it's encouraging. It's exhausting, though!
Sally: This is how I've been feeling, too. I've been talking to awesome guys, but I've been having problems keeping the conversation going sometimes. I wish they were more motivated!
Peter: Yeah. I wish I knew for sure that my contacts are impressed with my profile.
Sally: I'm sure they're attracted to you.
Peter: I hope so. I've posted my nicest pictures.
Sally: I noticed that! I've also noticed that you've been shaving every day since you signed up for Tender!
Peter: Well, one of the girls I'm interested in only dates clean-shaven guys. I've been making an effort to look good for her since I read that. We both love comics and she seems to really like me, so ... I asked her out!
Sally: Wow, I'm impressed. This sounds like it could be a match made in Heaven.
Peter: I wish I weren't so nervous about it!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs Present Perfect Tenses

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You use Present Perfect Continuous tense to describe:

- a single activity that lasts a long time, and
- an action that is repeated over a long period of time.

These actions continue up to the present.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experience. When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

For example: I have learned English = I learned English in the past and now I can speak English.

He has bought a painting = He bought the painting in the past and now he has a painting.

You can use the Present Perfect Continuous tense when a long activity has just stopped.

To emphasize the action, use the continuous form.

- I've been chatting with a few girls on Tinder in the past few days.
- I've been having problems keeping the conversation going sometimes.

To emphasize the result of the action, use the simple form.

- Have you found someone you're compatible with?
- I've had a couple of stimulating conversations so far.

Subject	Has/Have	Been	Verb+ing
I	've	been	chatting with a few girls in the past few days.
You	've	been	shaving since you signed up!

- You use FOR to talk about how long an action has been happening (a week, 2 days, five hours, six years, etc.).
- You use SINCE to talk about when the action started (2010, Monday, she was a child).

Examples:

- I've been making an effort to look good for her since I read that she likes clean-shaven guys.
- I've been talking to awesome guys, but I've been having problems keeping the conversation going sometimes.

Learning Points

Talking about Wishes and Imaginary Situations

You use "I wish ..." to talk about things you do not have or do, or you cannot have or do.

The verb wish introduces an idea. After wish, you use a verb in the past tense.

I wish I knew ...

I wish I had ...

I wish you were ...

Structure:

Wish + Simple Past tense

Example	Meaning
I wish I could tell you for sure.	I want to tell you, but I'm not sure.
I wish they were more motivated!	They aren't motivated enough.
I wish I weren't so nervous about dating!	I am nervous about dating.
I wish I knew for sure that my contacts are impressed with my profile.	I would like my contacts to be impressed, but I don't know if they are.
